Director's Note

It is very easy to feel like a secondary character in someone else's grand story. That does not mean, however, that there isn't another story out there where you're the most important person in the world.

-The Headmaster

I grew up loving the Harry Potter books. As I read, I remember thinking I was a Gryffindor. (Or as our show calls them, The Braves) However, when I look back on those childhood memories, there is no doubt in my mind: I was a Puff. I was honest, loyal, and marched to the beat of my own drum no matter how uncool it made me. Luckily, I found more Puffs like me when I joined my middle school theatre program, and the rest is history. Today, I am lucky enough to be a part of a new community- the Frost Drama Family. A family where students can feel welcomed, loved, and valued, no matter whether you're a Brave, a Smart, or a Puff. I am proud of the work you will see onstage, but I am beyond proud of the community they have built together.

This show has been such a joy to work on- Our 8th graders have led this show with grace, maturity, and star power. To my 8th graders who can't join us for the musical: It's been such a joy to have you as a part of our family. To all my 7th graders- the talent and hard work you have shown in these few months has blown me away! I can't wait to see what stories we will tell together in the future.

I am so excited to show you all the unauthorized, unendorsed, unlicensed magic that has been happening onstage these past few months. As always, thank you for choosing to support educational theatre. We couldn't do it without you.

Enjoy the show!
